

Near Culture

(1) North America Indigenous Ministries (NAIM)

- NAIM is a nondenominational faith mission serving in coastal villages, interior communities and urban cities primarily across Western Canada, Washington State, and New Mexico.
- NAIM is committed to covenant relationships with First Nations churches, creating vibrant ministry in their communities and beyond.
- NAIM send missionaries in Native communities full-time and long-term, with a focus on the interior of Western Canada. On a small scale, NAIM staff continued to visit and encourage isolated believers in the coastal communities.
- Throughout the years NAIM has reached out in love to Indigenous people thru:
 - youth ministries
 - summer internships
 - community-based evangelism
 - long-term discipleship
 - church planting
 - These endeavors have been part of a strategy that has resulted in many small fellowships of believers in communities scattered across Canada.
